Reviews editor

This is the first issue of JoCI with reviews, and we invite more. Please send reviews of books, movies, music CDs, plays, and more—any published work that sheds light on questions of community informatics or otherwise calls for comment in our ‘pages.’

Reviews should be no longer than 1000 words and be followed by the reviewer’s name and short bio. Start the review with a citation, including the price of the item and some kind of link to the item or more information about it, keeping in mind JoCI’s global readership that may or may not be able to get the original item.
